DEVRHOID O. DAVIS TESTIMONIAL

I graduated from sixth form at CC in 2011. I am greatly honoured to be a recipient of one of the Clarendon College Alumni Association South Florida Scholarships. Being the recipient of the Newton Warmington Scholarship has greatly impacted my life. It enabled me to accomplish my dreams of attending University and attaining a degree in Physics. It also enabled me to meet many of the past students who work tirelessly to support the school through the Past Student Association and the other Alumni Chapters. It instilled in me the impetus to give back to the school in whatever way I can which is something I am currently actively doing. I am currently employed as a Scientific Officer at the International Centre for Environmental and Nuclear Sciences where I am involved in the monitoring of radiation dose for persons employed in the radiation field. I am also the developer of a website that seeks to provide financial analysis on stocks listed on the Jamaica Stock Exchange. It is my intent to attain the Chartered Financial Analyst certification in the future and to apply my analytical skills in creating market intelligence for local, regional and diaspora investors.
